Abstract: An abstract of up to 200 words should precede the text together with 5 or 6 keywords in alphabetical order to describe the content of the paper. Authors should take great care in preparing the abstract and not simply lift it from the main text. The abstract should describe the background and contribution of the manuscript and give a clear verbal description of the results and examples, and avoid citations whenever possible. Any acknowledgements will be printed at the end of the text.

1 Title of the section

Text of the first section. Fahrmeir et al. \(2013\) is a direct reference to a book with more than two authors. Gómez et al. \(2009\) is a direct reference to a journal article with more than two authors. Many papers were published in Statistical Modelling (see, e.g., Kneib, 2013; Komárek and Lesaffre, 2006; Li et al., 2007; Waldmann et al., 2013). Sometimes we also need to reference a book chapter (Lesaffre et al., 2009).
